Answer key

Every answer carries the reason behind it. Read the reason for the questions you got right as well — that is where you find out whether you were right for the right reason.

A. Multiple choice

1. B) It was lovely, thanks. And yours? — A finished weekend takes the past simple, and returning the question is expected.
2. B) Yes, please. That would be lovely. — Yes, please is the standard polite acceptance of an offer.
3. C) Excuse me, could you tell me where the station is? — Could you plus an indirect question is the standard polite form.
4. A) It doesn't matter, we've just started. — Accepting an apology briefly is what English conversation expects.
5. B) I'm sorry, but I think this soup is cold. — English softens complaints with I'm sorry, but and I think.
6. A) Yes, seven is good for me. — Agree is a verb in English, so I am agree is impossible.
7. A) No, it's my first time. — The present perfect question is answered naturally with a short statement.
8. B) isn't it — A positive statement takes a negative tag in small talk.
9. A) Sorry, I didn't catch that. — I didn't catch that is the standard polite request for repetition.
10. B) For three months. — A length of time takes for; a starting point takes since.

B. Fill in the blank

1. could — Could makes an indirect question politer than can.
2. long — How long asks about duration.
3. catch — Catch here means hear and understand.
4. like — Would you like is the standard offer.
5. isn't — A positive statement takes a negative question tag.
6. mind — Do you mind is a polite way of asking permission.
7. welcome — You're welcome is the standard response to thanks.
8. for — A length of time takes for rather than since.

C. Sentence building

1. Excuse me, could you help me?
2. How long have you lived here?
3. I'm sorry, I didn't catch that.
4. Would you like a cup of tea?
5. It's a lovely day, isn't it?
